Salvage operations deemed a success
Despite setbacks, F-16 finally pulled from water

By Senior Airman Stephen Collier

Crews of the U.S. Navy rescue and salvage ship USS Safeguard, together with members of the 8th Fighter Wing, returned to the waters off the coast of South Korea recently to recover the remains of a Wolf Pack F-16 that crashed into the sea March 14.

The joint U.S. and Republic of Korea naval salvage and recovery operation was completed almost two months after it began March 24 when it was called off due to high winds and heavy seas.

Capt. Charles Armstrong, 8th FW chief of flight safety, who supervised and coordinated the salvage operation, said approximately 75 to 80 percent of the aircraft was recovered making the operation a success.

“From top to bottom, this operation was a tremendous success between Pacific Fleet, Pacific Air Forces and the Republic of Korea,” Capt. Armstrong said. “[Our] outstanding performance and working relationship with the officers and crew of the USS Safeguard and Mobile Dive and Salvage Unit made the operation go that much smoother.”

According to Capt. Armstrong, the recovery of the crash survivable flight data recorder, commonly known to the public as the “black box,” is important because it shows the Air Force exactly what was going on during the flight.

“When the aircraft starts a turn at a certain time during the flight, the data recorder will give us such things as stick inputs, rudder inputs, airspeed, altitude and angle of attack and faults for flight controls, engine

SECAF Wynne to Airmen: Remember ‘Service before Self’

(Editor's note: The Hon. Michael W. Wynne, Secretary of the Air Force, addresses Airmen frequently through a series called "Letters to Airmen." See the Wolf Pack Warrior for these letters as they become available.)

This past February, in my Letter to Airmen addressing our three USAF Core Values, I shared these thoughts on Service Before Self:

It is not the same as "service," a value also claimed by some civilian institutions and corporations. Our service requires sacrifice and commitment to our nation.

We understand we make decisions in an environment where freedoms are on the line, and lives are at stake. Service Before Self begins with duty, but it means more: It means that, in our Air Force, as we fly and fight in war and peace, going above-and-beyond-the-call-of-duty is not the exception — it is the rule.

It is the rule because every Airman is an expeditionary Airman, whom the Joint Team counts on every day to be trained and battle ready.

Delivering sovereign options for the defense of the United States of America and its global interests requires self-sacrifice.

As I visit and work with Airmen around the world, I could not be prouder of the many ways that you sacrifice for Service Before Self, whether the mission is combat operations or humanitarian relief. The aftermath of Hurricane Katrina provides a great example.

Many of our critical search and rescue Airmen who had just returned from Operation Iraqi Freedom deployments immediately went to rescue Americans from rooftops in New Orleans instead of taking a well-earned leave.

Another example of such Service Before Self is the remarkable number of Air Force Reservists and Air National Guardsmen who volunteer for deployments. At great sacrifice to their families and often at the expense of their private businesses, they continue to volunteer to contribute to the fight.

Their service allows our Air Force leaders to integrate them into units creating a truly seamless Total Force for the Joint Team.

Your service in the Air Force — with all the risks and sacrifices that service demands — is service to our nation, to its values, and to its dreams. The participation in "wingman" programs to enhance relationships and security to fellow airmen is yet a further example.

Everything we have done — and everything we will do — begins with an oath that changes our lives. We understand that the nation depends upon us to live up to that oath. We understand that, as we serve on the front lines of freedom, our promise to serve must come before all else.

On behalf of the Air Force, and on behalf of a grateful nation, I thank you for your dedication, your devotion, and your Service Before Self. I salute you all.

May is Asian Pacific American Heritage Month

By Staff Sgt. Adonis Cabarle
8th Fighter Wing military equal opportunity office

May is Asian Pacific American Heritage Month, or APAHM, and is a celebration of Asian and Pacific Islanders in the United States. The 2006 Department of Defense theme is "Dreams and Challenges for Asian Pacific Americans." It was not too long ago that this month-long celebration was only a week-long celebration.

President Jimmy Carter signed a joint resolution in October 1978 and the first Asian Pacific American Heritage Week was celebrated in May 1979.

Since then, it was celebrated annually during the first week of May until 1992. In 1992, the week was expanded to a month-long recognition when President George H.W. Bush signed Public Law 102-450, designating May as APAHM.

May was chosen to commemorate the immigration of the first Japanese to the U.S. May 7, 1843, and to mark the anniversary of the completion of the transcontinental railroad May 10, 1869. The majority of the railroad workers were Chinese immigrants.

During APAHM, we honor and celebrate the millions of Asian Pacific Americans whose contributions helped to make America a strong, vibrant and free society. Look around and you'll find APA highly involved in government, politics, business, sports, literature, media, film, music and science.

Why must we highlight such contributions from Asian Pacific Americans? I think we all can agree that our country is the strongest country in the world due to its diversity. The U.S. is made up of different cultures, beliefs, religions and languages. This gives us an advantage when compared to other countries, yet, it's also to our disadvantage.

America's diversity leads to negative stereotypes and stereotypes lead to prejudicial views. To mitigate such negative perceptions toward APA, the APAHM exist today not just to highlight the contributions of APA, but to also remind all Americans that our country would not be where it's at today without our APA brothers and sisters.

Take the time to learn about the history of APA during this month and hopefully you will do the same during the other observances. If you are interested in becoming the 8th FW APAHM project officer, call MEO at 782-4053.

problems and much more," he said. "This is a single-source piece on the aircraft that can answer a lot of questions, and without it, [determining what happened] could be impossible."

The salvage operation supported the Air Force's safety investigation into the mishap and contributed significantly to the goals of the diving and salvages exercise (SALVEX 06) which was ongoing.

The aircraft was under approximately 20 meters of water about 20 miles off the coast of Kunsan.

Chief Petty Officer Michael Rahming, a hospital corpsman diver since 1992, was first to locate a major portion of the aircraft: the jet engine.

"It's an awesome experience, especially for the young guys coming straight out of school," Petty Officer Rahming said, commenting on the salvage operation. "It's dark, it's cold and there's really not much that you can see. So you just gotta go out there and feel around and once you land on it you're on it."

DOD, Congress work to make progress on Tricare changes

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department, together with Congress, has reached some conclusions about how the fee system for military health care should be changed, a top DOD official said here May 11.

"It's universally agreed that there is a serious issue, a serious problem, with the growing health care costs within the Department of Defense, and the potential adverse impact that that might have to sustain our great health benefit," said Dr. William Winkenwerder Jr., assistant secretary of defense for health affairs.

The DOD has had a lot of good, transparent dialogue with members and committees of Congress, along with beneficiary organizations, Dr. Winkenwerder said.

There has been emerging agreement in some areas, specifically in the area of pharmacy costs. All parties agree that changes need to be made in the pharmacy co-payment system, and DOD has received some good feedback to modify its proposal, he said.

Congress is debating the DOD's proposed Tricare fee adjustments as part of the Fiscal Year 2007 National Defense Authorization Act.

A persistent rumor that the increase in Tricare fees for military retirees will eat up 50 percent of their cost-of-living allowance is not true, Dr. Winkenwerder said. He said that the increases in Tricare fees will be dramatically less than the increases in retiree pay.

All the senior DOD and military leaders support the Tricare fee increase as a necessary means to sustain the military health care system, Dr. Winkenwerder said.

The chairman and vice chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, all the service chiefs of staff, vice chiefs of staff and surgeons general wrote a letter to Congress supporting the DOD's efforts and asking Congress to work with the department, he said.

"Within the department, there's almost universal agreement about the problem and the proposal," he said. "But having said that, it's important that members of Congress and others get a comfort level or some level of agreement about what we're doing, and that we move forward together."

Changes to the Tricare fee system are essential if the military is going to sustain its health benefit at the current level, Dr. Winkenwerder said. Unless financing continues to flow into the system now and in the future, it will be impossible to keep up the quality of care the military has grown accustomed to, he said.

"Something's gotta give; so, unless you can have that financing coming in, we're concerned that the system would really run into trouble," he said. "That's why taking action now or in the very near future is important, and waiting two years or beyond would not be a good idea, because it just makes the problem harder to solve."

Dr. Winkenwerder and other DOD officials have said that if the fee system is not changed, the health system will take up 12 percent of the DOD budget, at $64 billion, by 2015.

The discussion so far about the Tricare fee increases has been spirited and heartfelt, but always professional, Dr. Winkenwerder said.

A lot of good ideas have been exchanged, he said, and he is confident about the future.

"We're optimistic about being able to make changes over the next months and into next year that would be the right thing to do and certainly very important to do," he said. (AFP)

High-speed internet

Did you know?

In 2004, South Korea was ranked number one in broadband internet use per capita. South Korea had an internet penetration rate of 24.9 people per 100 inhabitants, with a total population of about 12 million broadband users. This puts South Korea ahead of Japan (ranked number eight), the United States (ranked number 12) and Western Europe for broadband use per capita. Information courtesy of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development.

For the past decade, South Korea has been a world leader in internet technology. In 1999, South Korean company Hanaro Telecom was first in the world to provide commercial ADSL internet service, and currently about 75 percent of South Korea's 16 million households have high-speed internet access (Information courtesy of the Korean Times).

Hometown: San Antonio, Texas

Hobbies: Playing dominoes

Favorite music: R and B, old school

Follow-on: Randolph AFB, Texas

"Staff Sgt. Johnson's focus since arriving at Kunsan was the Healthcare Services Inspection preparation and his efforts reflected favorably on the 8th Medical Group and the Wolf Pack.

His team successfully reviewed 700 medical records which minimized errors by 50 percent. Due to his diligent efforts, records' availability went from 78 to 95 percent in three months.

Sgt. Johnson was also a key member of a Process Action Team to explore the feasibility of a "Sick Call" being established for the 8th Fighter Wing.

He has also volunteered for the A-Cubed program and spent time with children at a local orphanage. Sgt. Johnson is deserving of the Pride of the Pack award."

REGULAR SEASON COVERAGE

Wolf Pack ties with Army during third week

The 8th Fighter Wing’s very own Kunsan Crazies men’s varsity softball team opened its third regular-season weekend by splitting a four-game series with Camp Casey Saturday and Sunday.

Kunsan opened up with an 8-7 win in Saturday’s first game, but Camp Casey came back to take the second contest 13-11.

Crazies coach John Charleston said the Camp Casey offense presented a challenge for his team.

“Their two big guys kept hitting the ball no matter where our pitcher put it,” Coach Charleston said. “Camp Casey’s first pitcher is a good pitcher and he gave us some problems at first.”

Camp Casey captured Sunday’s first game 17-12, but the Crazies relied on their offense to take the finale 20-18.

“With our Kunsan Crazies in the stands, we put up seven runs the first inning and never looked back,” Coach Charleston said.

The Crazies will try to improve their 2-2 record when they host Yongsan with double headers Saturday and Sunday.

WOLF PACK, ROKAF KEEP KUNSAN BEACH CLEAN

Joint effort helps
local environment

CLOCKWISE FROM LEFT: Several tons of garbage are removed from the beach during the joint U.S. and Republic of Korea Air Forces beach clean-up with the help of the 8th Civil Engineer Squadron and their heavy equipment. Staff Sgt. Krista Fitzgerald, 8th Maintenance Operations Squadron, does her part to rid the beach of trash and debris. Senior Airman Trevor Taylor-Tillet, 8th Logistics Readiness Squadron, together with ROKAF airman Dong Hun Kang, fill their bags with trash found on the beach. Volunteers board a bus bound for the beach.

IN THE TRENCHES ... Where's your follow-on and why did you choose it?

Senior Airman Joseph Teszner
"It's Anderson and I choose it for the golfing. Can't beat that!"

Capt. Nicole Young
"I don't have a follow on so no reason to choose it."

Staff Sgt. J.D. Wells
"Mine is Ft. Meade, Maryland because it's close to home."

Senior Airman Michael Groff
"Luke; because that's where I was stationed and I have family there."

Capt. Aaron Curtright
"Mildenhall; because of all the lovely British ladies over there."
